About the Program

Find out how the candidates running for South Dakota's next Governor stand on important issues related to the housing industry. The two candidates running for this office in the November general election are Republican Dennis Daugaard and Democrat Scott Heidepriem.

If you have a specific question you'd like the candidates to answer, please submit them to the HBASE office by September 20.

Candidates will be on hand throughout the evening before and after the forum to answer questions you may have.

Dennis Daugaard (Rep.)

Dennis Daugaard graduated from Dell Rapids High School in 1971, from USD in 1975 and from Northwestern Law School in Chicago in 1978.

Dennis has been South Dakota's Lieutenant Governor since 2003. From 1997 to 2002, Dennis represented Turner, McCook, and rural Minnehaha counties in the SD Senate.

Dennis also served until the fall of 2009 as the Executive Director of Children's Home Society, a charity that cares for abused and neglected children.

Scott Heidepriem (Dem.)

After graduating from Miller High School, Scott Heidepriem attended USD where he received his undergraduate and law degrees.

Scott served as Special Assistant Attorney General before running for and winning a State House seat in 1982. He later served in the State Senate before retiring from the legislature and moving to Sioux Falls to practice law in 1992.

In 2006, Scott won a State Senate seat from a Sioux Falls district and was reelected in 2008. Scott currently serves as the Minority Leader in the SD Senate.
